The Astor Residences.

Where the present Astor will affix his historic doorplate remains to be seen. At present he lives in a modest house almost under the shadow of the big mansion which he has torn down, and which was not the sort of home that would please a man of taste of today, having nothing but its size to recommend it. It is the custom of every Astor to build a new house upon coming into the family millions. The original John Jacob lived opposite our postoffice, his son lived in Washington square and the late John Jacob lived in the house now just torn down. The regular procession up town should take the present Astor up to the park and his son to Harlem.

A peculiarity of the Astor investments is that these Astor mansions have always been built upon property which when bought was away out of town. The Astor estate now holds several blocks of lots on the Riverside drive, the superb avenue which runs along the bluff on the edge of the Hudson river from Seventy-second street to Harlem. This line will unquestionably be some day the finest place for dwellings in the country, and it would not be surprising if the present Astor were to settle there himself. The view from anywhere along the drive takes in miles and miles of the noble Hudson. Foreigners say that there is nothing in Europe so superbly situated as our Riverside drive, yet because it is a mile away from the fashionable thoroughfare it is deserted.—New York Cor. Charleston News.

Cheap Incandescent Lamps.

It is reported that an English chemist has discovered a practical substitute for platinum in the manufacture of incandescent lamps. If this be true, and the rumor is said by a reliable electrical journal to have substantial foundation, it is a discovery of great importance. At its present price platinum forms one of the most expensive items in the manufacture of the incandescent lamp. In the sixteen candle power lamp there are from four to eight grains of platinum.

Assuming an average of six grains per lamp, an ounce will be sufficient for eighty lamps. The demand for sixteen candle power lamps for 1891, based upon reliable data, will be 10,000,000 sixteen candle power lamps, which would give a demand for 135,000 ounces of platinum, which at present price ($14 to $17 per ounce) would amount to about $2,000,000. The probable income from these lamps will not amount to more than $6,000,000, while the cost of one item alone is one-third the total income. Hence it will be seen that a bona fide substitute for the platinum wire ought to mean a fortune for its discoverer.—New York Telegram.

Fearful Being Buried Alive.

Abner L. Dunn, a veteran of the civil war, was buried at Burlington, Ia., the other day. He died several days ago at the age of 56, but in accordance with the request he had made the interment was deferred as long as possible. This was the second time Dunn had died, to all appearances. Several years ago, after a peculiar illness, the doctors pronounced him dead, and his body was placed in a casket. Shortly before the coffin was lowered into the grave Dunn showed signs of life, and in a few days was well and strong. The story of his experience was thrilling. He claimed that he was conscious of what was going on about him; understood the conversation; could even see the faces of his family as they bent over him; but could not speak or move. Afterward he had a dread of being buried alive, and it was for this reason that he made the request for delay.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Mr. Moore and His Island.

William J. Moore, a brick mason and contractor, has just received title from the West Jersey board of proprietors to an island which he discovered was without an owner. He values his find at $5,000.

The island is located in the thoroughfare, a stream of water that divides Atlantic City from the mainland, midway between the railroad bridge and the new found fishing grounds. It contains a trifle over fourteen acres. The title, which he now holds by virtue of having located the land and filed a survey with the board of proprietors, is transmitted from the estate of William Morris Cropper.

The cost of establishing his claim to this valuable piece of land was less than $150.—Cor. Philadelphia Press.

By the burning of his country home in Howard county, Md., Senator Gorman lost his valuable library and all his paintings, bric-a-brac and family relics. If a personal diary, in which there were entries dating back to his entrance into public life, was also burned, with valuable political papers that can never be replaced.

DESPOTISM AND OBSTRUCTION.

The proceedings in Congress are not of a character to merit the approval of conservative citizens, whether they be Democrats or Republicans. On the one side there is despotism, pure and unadulterated, and on the other obstruction. The Speaker of the House, who should preside with dignity and impartiality, will not recognize a member of the opposition only when he has occasion to name him to make it appear that a quorum of the House is present when a vote is taken. Members who have served their constituents well in many sessions of Congress, are treated with contempt by the Speaker, who, wholly disregarding the rules hitherto governing parliamentary and deliberative bodies, will not permit an appeal to the House from his arbitrary decisions. No opportunity is given Representatives to offer amendments to bills of the greatest importance to their constituents. The Speaker assumes absolute authority, and no measure not approved by him is permitted to pass the House.

The Speaker's course is not approved by many Republicans, some of whom have roundly denounced his despotic ways, and the Democrats, not being given a voice in the enactment of laws, resort to the only means left them to obstruct the passage of objectionable bills, which is to break a quorum by leaving the House.

Motions to discharge the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures from the further consideration of the Silver bill, which would bring that important measure immediately before the House, and to make the bill a special order for a given day, are ruled out of order.

So far as the influence of the Democrats in shaping legislation is concerned, unless it be on the Silver bill and a few other matters on which a few Republicans join with them and make a majority against the Speaker, they might just as well go home. There is not, however, a quorum of Republicans in attendance, and the absence of the Democrats would block the law-making machinery of the House altogether.

If Speaker Bicknell of the Assembly should exercise such despotic powers at Carson as Speaker Reed does at Washington there would be a greater display of muscle in the Assembly Chamber than has been exhibited there since members threw spittoons and ink stands at each others heads several years ago.

CONSOLIDATION OF COUNTIES.

A proposition to consolidate several counties in the State and reduce the whole number from fourteen to eight, was discussed at some length last Summer. As was suspected, the counties which were to lose their autonomy in the consolidation objected to the proposed change. The idea prevailed that if a Constitutional Convention was called, the change would certainly be made. This had a tendency to arouse opposition to the Convention in the counties which were to be dismembered, therefore the vote in those counties was not so strongly in favor of a Convention as it doubtless would have been had not the consolidation of counties been discussed.

As any one who will give the subject a moment's thought will readily perceive, the consolidation of counties is not a Constitutional question. The Legislature is vested with full authority to create new counties and change the boundaries of or consolidate those already organized. There is, therefore, no reason for counties which do not wish to be disorganized and consolidated with others to oppose a Constitutional Convention on that ground.

County organization is a matter which concerns the tax payers of the county only. The State receives its proportion of the revenue collected and the county organization must be maintained by the property owners of the county. If they are willing to bear the burden out-aiders should not interfere and force them against their will to become a part of any other county. The suggestion to consolidate was doubtless made on the score of economy, but, whatever the motive, the question is one for the Legislature not for a Constitutional Convention to consider.

THE INSANE ASYLUM.

There is soon to be a vacancy in the Superintendency of the Insane Asylum caused by the resignation of Dr. Bishop. The Asylum is a State institution, maintained by the taxpayers Democrats, Republicans, Prohibitionists and Greenbackers contribute in proportion to their numbers and the value of their property to support it. It is therefore to be hoped that it will not be converted to the base uses of politicians to reward ward strikers for partisan services. The Commissioners for the care of the Indigent Insane are the Governor, State Controller and State Treasurer, and they have the appointing power at the Asylum and it is to be hoped that they will exercise that power in the interest of the taxpayers and unfortunate inmates, not for the furtherance of political schemes. A former Superintendent of the Asylum was removed, and though the public, who support the institution, had a right to know why, the cause has been kept secret, the Commissioners acting as if they and not the public owned the Asylum.

So far, Senator Cameron is the only member of the Senate or House who admits that he spoke in silver, and he says he did not do so until after the vote was taken.

THE DEAD KING.

Funeral Services at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 22.—The funeral of the late King Kalakaua, of Hawaii, took place this afternoon. Yesterday and throughout the night the body of the dead King lay in state in the mortuary chapel of Trinity Episcopal Church. A guard of soldiers from the Presidio, kept watch over the coffin throughout the night. From early morning the streets in the vicinity of the Church were thronged with people and an eager throng pushed to and fro seeking entrance to the Church which could contain but a small proportion of their number. Half of the Church was reserved for the funeral escort and to the other half was admitted, at first only those to whom special invitations had been sent. The civic matters were under the charge of Mayor Sutherland, while the military matters were left to General Gibbon, commanding the Division of the Pacific.

A HOLIDAY IN THE CITY.

The departments of the Superior Court were adjourned over yesterday out of respect to the deceased Monarch and the Custom House was closed to-day from 12 to 2 o'clock. The Produce Exchange and a number of business organizations also adjourned early.

About noon the Post street door of Trinity Church was opened and persons having tickets of admission were allowed to enter. At this time the streets without were almost impassable from the masses of people gathered in the vicinity and the assistance of mounted police was required to keep clear the entrance to the church. At a little before 1 o'clock Admiral Brown, of the Pacific Squadron, and staff, entered the church closely followed by the Golden Gate Commandery Knights Templars, of which the King was a member.

Soon after carriages arrived at the church and the pallbearers of the Scottish rite Representatives of Foreign Governments, Mayor Sutherland and the Board of Supervisors, Judges of the Supreme Court of California, Judges of the Federal and Superior Courts, Federal officials and county officers, Pioneers and various other organizations entered. The representatives of foreign governments wore official dress. The church was not decorated, save in the chancel, the back of which was draped in American and Hawaiian colors. The first three pews on the left of the center aisle, which had been set apart for the Hawaiian party, were draped in black and the chancel was filled with large and choice floral pieces, the offerings of personal friends and of societies of which the King had been a member.

THE SERVICES AT THE CHURCH.

At 1:30 P. M. the bells of the church began tolling and the clergy, followed by a guard of honor, proceeded slowly down the center aisle reading the burial psalm. Just behind them followed porters carrying the coffin draped in the Hawaiian colors and draped with flowers. Colonel Baker of the King's Staff, Hawaiian Consul McKinley, several Hawaiian residents of the city and a little party which accompanied the King from Honolulu came next, and took seat reserved for them. They were in mourning, and as the services proceeded frequently gave way to tears. The doors were then thrown open to the public and soon there was not even standing room in the nave of the church. The usual funeral services of bible reading and song then took place, after which Rev. J. Sandstead delivered a short funeral discourse. After the benediction the funeral cortege slowly conveyed the coffin to the hearse, and a long line of march began.

THE PROCESSION.

The procession formed to move to the water front immediately after the conclusion of the services in the church. The procession was headed by two troops of the Fourth U. S. Cavalry with the band of the 8th U. S. Artillery. Then followed the Second Brigade, California National Guard. The hearse was escorted by Golden Gate Commandery, Knights Templar, the 1st King's ante, General Gibbon, Admiral Benham, Major General Diamond and staff came next, and were followed by a long line of carriages containing Federal, State and city officials and representatives of mercantile bodies and civic societies. Crowds of spectators gathered along the line of march. Between Powell street and the foot of Market street there were probably one hundred thousand people who witnessed the procession. There was a total cessation of business along Market street, and all the principle business houses there were closed. At the foot of Market street the Second Brigade, California National Guard, formed a line and presented arms as the hearse and escort passed. The cavalry escort, on reaching Washington street wharf, presented arms as the casket was delivered to Admiral Brown. The light-house steamer Madrona was moored at the wharf, and a few hundred yards out in the stream lay the flag-ship Charleston. When the procession arrived at Washington street pier a dense crowd of people had gathered there, and the police had difficulty in clearing a space for the cortege to pass.

TAKING THE CASKET TO THE CHARLESTON. The casket containing the King's remains was placed aboard the Madrona and received by Admiral Brown. The Madrona then steamed out to the Charleston, and the casket was transferred to the flag-ship and placed in the after barbet under a canopy formed of the American and Hawaiian flags. In a few moments the Charleston's anchors were weighed and she commenced to move down the bay, while minute guns were fired from the batteries at Alcatraz and the Presidio. About five o'clock the Charleston passed through the Golden Gate and proceeded to sea.

Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—A point of order was made on the Democratic side that unfinished business was a motion to correct the journal of Tuesday's proceedings and that as it involved the status of Aldrich's resolution it must be first disposed of.

The Vice President indicated his desire to hear argument on this point and the positions on each side stated by various Senators.

Stewart argued strongly on the Democratic side, and Sherman argued that although a motion to correct the journal was a privileged question, it did not necessarily follow that it must be first considered. Any other subject might be taken up in conference by a majority vote.

The Vice President ruled Aldrich's motion to proceed to consideration of the Closure Rule in order. Harris appealed, but the Chair was sustained. Messrs. Teller, Wolcott and Stewart voted with the Democrats.

Aldrich moved to proceed to consideration of his closure resolution, and Gorman moved to table it. The Vice President submitted the question and a vote was taken. It resulted, yeas 30 yeas 35. So the motion to table was lost and a vote was taken on the motion to consider the Closure Rule. It prevailed by a vote of 36 to 32.

Immediately, however, Harris called up his point of order made against the closure resolution on Tuesday—that it was not explicit enough to meet the rule. The Vice President ruled against him, but Harris took an appeal and was permitted to debate it. He is now reading from an apparently inexhaustible mass of manuscript to kill time.

The Senate took a recess until tomorrow.

Terrible Storms in New England and the Middle States.

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, January 22.—Much rain has fallen over New England and the Middle States to-day and to-night. From many points come tidings of freshets and threatened floods. Bridges are being swept away in Dutchess county, N. Y., in the Mohawk Valley. There is an immense ice gorge near Tribes Hill, and the people on the low lands fear a flood. On the Lower Hudson all day the fiercest gales and rain storm of the season prevailed and some places were completely flooded. At Highland Light, Mass., a terrible southwest gale is likely to cause considerable damage in the bay and about Provincetown. A terrible rain storm, accompanied by high winds, prevailed at Danbury, Conn., doing a vast amount of damage. Still river has risen and the lower floors of factories are flooded. In all parts of the city cellars are flooded and the streets almost impassable. The schools are closed and business stopped.

Chinese Driven Out by a Mob.

Special to the Journal.

PRINCETON, Or., January 22.—A report comes from Milton, a few miles from here, that the Chinese were driven out of town last night by a mob of one hundred men. They went to the Chinese quarters and led the Celestials out with ropes around their necks. It is thought the mob consisted of discharged railroad section hands and their sympathizers in Milton. The Chinese were pretty roughly handled, and it is said; two of them badly hurt.

Meeting of Various Organizations.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—Representatives of the Knights of Labor, Colored Farmers' Alliance, Farmers' Union and Citizens' Alliance began a meeting here to-day in accordance with the instructions of the Ogala Conference. Representatives of three other organizations are expected tomorrow.

LONDON, January 22.—Lord Salisbury is authorized by the statement that a portion of the British Pacific Squadron has left Panama to protect British interests in Chili.

House Proceedings.

Special to the Journal.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—In the House to-day the approval of the journal was made the subject of prolonged debate, but there was entire absence of the disorder of the past few days.

The journal was approved and the District of Columbia Appropriation bill was passed. The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Naval Appropriation bill, the general debate being limited to four hours.

Boutelle explained the Naval Appropriation bill and the House adjourned.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of its kind which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly. REMARKS.

The Assembly session to-day lasted 22 minutes, and the session of the Senate 40 minutes. Everything is moving smoothly, and by next week Assemblymen and Senators will have bills formulated and sessions will last for the entire day. As presiding officers, Bicknell and Fougade have never been surpassed in the history of the State, and it is extremely doubtful if they have had many equals.

EX-STATE OFFICERS GONE.

The Legislature should act promptly on that proposed change in the Constitution to which a Carson correspondent of the JOURNAL referred yesterday and order a special election to ratify it. Ex-State Printer Harlow left last night for Tacoma, and Ex-Secretary of State Dorman has been living in California for three months. This is one of the results of electing men to State offices who have no interest, save an office-seeking one, in the State. It is not surprising that Nevada is poor.

Churchill County Mines.

The Austin Advocate says: Dan Keeler and Charles Towle have struck fine ore in the Great Eastern mine at Bernice. Ed Stone and W. A. Van Reed shipped a carload of antimony ore to San Francisco last week. C. Bell has five or six men at work in Cottonwood with about 1,000 tons of nickel ore on the dump.

The Advocate says at the last election the vote on the Constitutional Convention in Lander county was 490 for and 71 against it, out of a total vote of 561 votes for Governor. The Democratic tickets were printed, "For a Constitutional Convention, Yes," and the Republican tickets were printed, "For a Constitutional Convention."

Bar silver 1,000 fine has dropped to $1.03 3/4 per ounce in New York. Sherman knew more about the effect of his bill passed last July than those Nevada editors and politicians who made the people believe before election that it was as good as free coinage.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

The Silver Victory the General Topic of Discussion.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 16, 1891.

EDITOR JOURNAL: The brilliant victory of the silver forces in the Senate a few days ago has been all the talk since then. It has been recognized universally as an event of the most importance, pregnant with great political significance, and destined to exercise a permanent and far reaching influence.

The passage of the original Stewart Free Coinage Amendment had been conceded as a foregone conclusion, but no one, not even the most active and enthusiastic promoters of silver legislation, had dared to anticipate the complete knockout of the New England States' caucus, mentioned in mine of December 29th, which last Wednesday's night session led up to step by step.

The full text of the Free Coinage bill introduced and passed in the Senate is as follows:

THE FREE COINAGE BILL.

A bill to provide against the contraction of the currency and for other purposes.

That from and after the date of the passage of this Act the unit of value in the United States shall be the dollar and the same may be coined of 412 1/2 grains of standard silver, or of twenty-five and eight-tenths grains of standard gold, and the said coins shall be legal tender for all debts, public and private. That hereafter any owner of gold or silver bullion may deposit the same at any mint in the United States to be formed into standard dollars or bars for his benefit and without charge, but it shall be lawful to refuse any deposit of less value than $100, or any bullion so base as to be unsuitable for the operations of the mint.

SECTION 2. That the provisions of section 3 of "an Act to authorize the coinage of the standard silver dollar and to restore its legal tender character," which became a law February 28, 1878 is hereby made applicable to the coinage in this Act provided for.

SECTION 3. That the certificates provided for in the second section of this Act shall be of denominations of not less than $1 nor more than $100, and such certificates shall be redeemed in coinage of standard value. A sufficient sum to carry out the provisions of this Act is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated. So much of the Act of July 14, 1890, entitled, "an Act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of Treasury notes thereon and for other purposes as requires the purchase of 4,500,000 ounces of silver bullion per month be and is hereby repealed.

SECTION 4. That the certificates provided for in this Act and all gold and silver certificates already issued shall be receivable for all taxes and dues to the United States of every description, and shall be a legal tender for the payment of all debts, public and private.

SECTION 5. The owners of bullion deposited for coinage shall have the option to receive coin or its equivalent in the certificates provided for in this Act, and such bullion shall be subsequently coined.

It is quite refreshing, now that the war is over, to know that the most conservative friends of silver are inclined to think that the action of Wednesday will prove to have been

A FORTUNATE THING FOR THE COUNTRY.

They say it may serve to satisfy the cravings of the west and south for financial relief, and thus prevent recourse to more extreme measures in the way of silver schemes, flat money, etc., which are meditated so seriously by the Farmers' Alliance and rural political agitators in the interior of the country.

The defeated party takes the matter calmly, but rather gloomily. The authors and promoters of the original bill are somewhat nettled at the ruthless manner in which their production was torn into pieces, bit by bit, and finally thrown into the waste basket altogether, but they recognize the logic of numbers and console themselves with the reflection that "time will show," and the hope that there will be a rebound of popular sentiment on the question in the course of time.

WHAT MR. CLEVELAND'S FRIENDS SAY.

The friends of Mr. Cleveland are not displeased that the free coinage issue has been forced so promptly, and they hope that it may be disposed of entirely before the campaign of 1892, so as to relieve them and their favorite candidate from the embarrassment which they must otherwise experience on account of Mr. Cleveland's having committed himself to a support of the at present unpopular side of the silver question. With free coinage settled and out of the way before 1892, they argue, the main obstacle to the ex-President's re-election will be removed.

TO WHOM CREDIT IS DUE.

From the general tenor of conversation one hears in the lobbies of our big hotels, it is apparent that they regard the silver victory mainly due to the indomitable energy of Senators Stewart, Jones, Teller, Wolcott, Vest and others, backed by the popular demand, which they believe will make itself felt in a similar manner in the House, and ultimately in the Executive Mansion.

Farnham's patent stove pipe drums are just the thing for this cold weather. They save at least one-fourth of the fuel used, and distribute the heat through the room instead of having it escape through the chimney. They are worth ten times what they cost where fuel is high, and they save the labor of putting wood or coal in the stove where it is cheap. Hume Yerington has the agency for the coast, and Joseph H. Cowan, who stops at the Clarendon, represents him in this section.

Opening a Combination Lock.
Minnehaha, S. D., has just finished a new court house at a cost of $125,000. Over $10,000 worth of vaults were ordered in, and recently the company making the contract was notified that the safes could not be accepted. The understanding was that no one could open the vaults unless he had the combination or was an expert at safe blowing.
Last week Edward H. Saunders, a plumber, not over 17 years old, entered the county clerk's office while the clerk was endeavoring to open one of the new vaults. The combination had been lost, and finally the clerk gave up the job. Young Saunders, who was standing by, said he could open it. County Commissioner McKee offered to give Saunders $10 if he could open the safe. The proposition was accepted. The young lad placed his ear to the door, listened to the fall of the tumblers, and in a few moments the door swung open. Saunders was turned out of the room and the combination was changed. Another trial was given the young genius and again the door flew open. The chairman of the county commissioners has informed the safe company that their safes would not be accepted, and awaited their further orders.
Saunders has since opened a vault of the Hall make in one of the leading banks of the city as easily as if he knew the combination. In one of the letters that passed between the commissioners and the safe company the latter agree to forfeit $10,000 if the lad can open any vault without first knowing the combination.—Plumbers' Trade Journal.

Capt. Watts' Gift to Thomaston.
One of the most pathetic scenes witnessed in this state for a long time marked the exercises attending the presentation of the new building to the town of Thomaston, Me., by Capt. Samuel Watts. The old captain had a falling out with the town a number of years ago, and he cleared out, with all his taxable property, going to Boston. In later years his heart changed and he made the town the munificent gift. Said he, when he made his little speech: "I am human. I have my likes and dislikes, which is applicable to most of mankind. I have lived to the age of more than three-score-and-ten—eight years more. Mr. Chairman and citizens of Thomaston, I say to one and all, I stand before you willing to forgive and ask to be forgiven. Mr. Chairman, I wish to say before taking my seat that my desire is, at the end of my earthly career, I shall be laid in yonder cemetery side by side where my wife and most of my children lie moldering in the dust." The brave old mariner said a few words more, and then had to give up, overcome by his emotions. The people of Thomaston are full of warm and affectionate words for him.—Boston Journal.

A Singular Partition.
A case which is believed by lawyers to have no parallel in legal history has just been brought out in the Norfolk county court at Dedham. The late R. W. Shapleigh, of Brooklyn, N. Y., died leaving an estate of $700,000 for thirty heirs, with no provision as to its disposal that would stand the test of the courts. There was found, however, in an old wallet a paper in his well known handwriting, but without his signature, which disposed of about half of the property to individuals, mostly nearest relatives. Some of these would not get a penny if the estate was settled by process of law. A family meeting was forthwith held, and it was agreed by all to abide by the apparent wishes of the late Mr. Shapleigh. They also decided to set apart a sum to maintain a cemetery at West Lebanon, Me., in which Mr. Shapleigh always had a deep personal interest. The lawyers said there was never such a case brought to their notice before.—Springfield Republican.

Trusting a Stranger.
A queer story is told about a Maine character who recently won an unenviable notoriety. While a well known Baptist clergyman, Rev. C. V. Hanson, was coming from Lewiston by train about a year ago, an elderly man in the same car inquired whether there was any one present going to Skowhegan. Mr. Hanson told him he resided there, whereat this man counted out $500, and gave the same to Mr. Hanson to deposit in the First National bank.
The circumstance passed from his mind until one day looking over his papers Mr. Hanson discovered by the receipt given him by Cashier Page that the man who intrusted him with the $500 was none other than Micah W. Norton, of New Portland. Either Norton is a pretty good reader of physiognomy or thinks he is.—Somerset Reporter.

A Costly Cow.
To prove the ownership of a $15 cow the costs were $75 in Squire Schvab's court Monday afternoon. It took from 2 o'clock to 7 o'clock to examine the seventy-five witnesses. It seems that Frank Groneman, a West End dairyman, lost a cow, and found her in the stables of Fred Koester, his neighbor. A reprieve of the animal followed, and the jury gave Groneman his cow, with $1 damages. The cow, covered with ribbons, was hauled in glory to the squire's office.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

A Timely Discovery.
A new insulating material, having all the properties of gutta-percha, but with a higher dielectric resistance, is claimed by Dr. Purcell Taylor, of London. It is to be called "purcellite," and is said to be exceedingly tough and elastic, capable of being given any color, and of being made either flexible or rigid, and to be only one-fortieth as expensive as gutta-percha.—Arkansas Traveler.

A Big Sunflower.
The biggest sunflower on record has been raised this year by Mrs. Penchower, of Cloverdale, Colo. The stalk is 6 inches in diameter at the ground, it stands 12 feet high, and the flower measures 9 feet in circumference.—Omaha Bee.
